A01 A class with hundreds or even thousands of students might sound like a teacher's worst nightmare. But a big idea in higher education these days is Massive Open Online Courses, or MOOCs.

Some universities offer free, non-credit MOOCs available to anyone in the world. Others charge for courses and provide credits. The idea is still developing. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology started its first MOOC in 2012. The school plans to offer many free, non-credit courses through a project called MIT x. Many Chinese universities are beginning to offer free MOOCs now too.

Nowadays,MOOC s almost cover every topic,like computer science,technology,mechanics,engineering,languages,etc.

Generally speaking,there are no formal education requirements for these free online courses.Students watch short videos.Then,they take informal,ungraded quizzes after the videos each week for certain weeks.Quizzes are part of the lecture program to keep students engaged and keep them thinking,for students to be able to check that they understood what was covered.They can repeatedly watch the videos and take the quizzes whenever they want.Students receive homework.They can join online groups to exchange questions and answers about the courses.The teachers hold virtual office hours to answer questions that the students have posted.They also present their own questions and observations.

Some supporters claimed that there are things that we can do better in the online format.We can certainly deliver high-quality education to many students at much lower cost.

A02 Although they're still the lovely young kitten or pup in our minds,your pets need extra care as they reach their senior years.Here's our list of suggestions to keep them happy and healthy for as long as possible.

Fnodie

Keeping your pet's diet healthy and nutritious(有营养的) is very important at any stage of their life,but as they become old,they need a different set of vitamins and minerals.Different sizes and breeds of pets will have different needs,so it's worth a quick chat with your vet to discover what they would recommend.

Gym membership

Although they may seem tired and slow for outdoor activities,this doesn't mean they shouldn't keep exercise anymore.You don't have in drag them on a 10-mile uphill hike,but cocnurage your pet to get out into the fresh air.The sights and smells should inspire their natural urge to trot about and explore again.if they're lazy,try small indoor games and ioys that will keep their mind active.

Fit not fat

if you're feeding your pet healthy foods inappropriate sized portions(分量) and making sure they're getting enough exercise,you shouldn't have an overweight friend at your side.

However,if you still think they need to lose a few pounds,you can discuss with your vet how to help them lose weight and keep a healthy weight.

The dreaded vets

Not many people enjoy a trip to the doctor and it's certainly the same for your pet.But regular checks at the vets can prevent minor health issues from getting more and more serious,

Older pets should be taken to the vet at least once every six months.On your next visit,ask your vet what common issues usually affect their particular breed(种类) such as arthritis(关节炎) or diabetes(肥胖症) .You can then be more careful when taking care of them.

D01 Demand for Elderly Care Services in China Rising Rapidly

The number of elderly people aged above 60 increased.Demand for elderly care services in China will continue to rise due to the increasing aging population.The number of elderly people aged above 60 was over 200 million in 2012,and will be 300 million in 2025 and 400 million in 2034,according to experts.

It will be a tough challenge for China to deal with,due to the increasing rates of urbanization and a decreasing birth rate.The Chinese people will be facing a big challenge if we do not have enough money when we get older.

The United Nations defines an aging society as one that has 10 percent of its population at or above the age of 60.

When most developed countries were classed as an aging society,their gross domestic product (GDP) per capita stood at between 5,000 to 10,000 U.S.dollars or above.However,China became an aging society in 2001,and its GDP per capita was only 1,000 U.S.dollars.It was 6,000 U.S.dollars in 2012.China's economic foundation for an elderly society is fragile.

On Sept.13.2013,the State Council issued a guideline to speed up the development of China's elderly care services,hoping to complete a social care network for its elderly by I01 I want to translate the Web into every major language: every webpage,every video,and,yes,even Justin Bieber's tweets.

Nowadays,most of the Web is inaccessible (不能接触的) to most people in the world because its content splits up into hundreds of languages with over 50 % of it in English.This problem is pressing,now more than ever,with millions of people from China,Russia,Latin America and other quickly developing regions entering the Web.

There are certainly systems (like Google Translate) that are improving every day at translating the gist of things written in other languages than English.Unfortunately,they are not yet accurate enough: even when what they spit out is intelligible (智能的),it's so badly written that people can't read more than a few lines before getting a headache.

This is why a new project called Duolingo is introduced here.Duolingo aims at breaking the language barrier,and thus making the Web truly “world wide.”

The idea behind Duolingo is to kill two birds with one stone by solving both of these problems simultaneously. It is accomplished by transforming language translation into something that anyone can do - not just bilinguals - and that millions of people want to do: learning a foreign language. It is estimated that over one billion people worldwide are learning a foreign language, with millions doing so using computer programs.

With Duolingo, people learn and translate a foreign language at the same time. When you learn on Duolingo, the website gives you exercises set specifically for you that teach you every aspect of the new language. You may be asked to translate a sentence, to pronounce or listen to a phrase, or to describe what you see in an image. In this way, Duolingo produces translations that are as accurate as those from professional language translators.

21. What does the author want to do? _____

- A. Business communication.
- B. Online Translation.
- C. Door-to-door sales.

[答案]B

22. According to the article, most people in the world can't receive most of the information on the Web due to the problem of _____.

- B. social conflicts
- C. governmental disagreement

[答案]A

23. Which of the following is NOT mentioned as a problem of many translating systems?

- A. They are not accurate enough.
- B. They don't work every day.
- C. The translations are badly written.

[答案]B

24. To kill two birds with one stone means to _____.

- A. spend time and money making success
- B. do things without considering its results
- C. Solve both problems with only one move

[答案]C

25. What can you be asked to do while using Duolingo? _____

- A. To share the product with others.
- B. To pay for the exercises you learn.
- C. To describe the image that you see.

M01 Making Your Home a Safer Place

We all tend to think that we are safe in our homes but unfortunately, many homes are not as safe as they are supposed to be. It is impossible to make your home 100% burglar-proof but there are ways to improve your home safety.

Always lock the door and windows when you go out for work or even if you are inside the house. The burglars can take advantage of the opportunity in a minute..

Be suspicious of strangers. You can never know who is pretending to conduct a research or who is using it as a disguise to see if your home is worth breaking in.

Never leave valuables or cash in visible places. Hide them out of sight because they may attract burglars.

Do not leave the door key under planters, doormats or similar hiding places. The burglars know exactly where to look for it.

Teach your children not to open the door or answer the phone when they are home alone. Although it is better to make an impression that your house is not empty, children may unintentionally reveal too much, for example, when the home is empty.

Consider installing an alarm system. A loud sound alarm usually drives the burglars away before they can steal anything from your home.

Make sure you have good lighting outside during the night. Well-lit homes are deterring the burglars because they increase the risk of being noticed while sticking around the house or trying to break in.

21. What is the topic discussed in the text?

- A. Be suspicious of strangers.
- B. Ways to keep your home safe.
- C. How to keep your valuables or cash safe.

[答案]B

22. Which statement is true according to the text?

- A. It is not necessary to lock the door and windows when you are inside the house.
- B. It is easy for you to recognize who is going to break in your home.
- C. Hide the valuables or cash out of sight because they may attract burglars.

M02 Many people thought babies were not able to learn things until they were five or six months old. But doctors now say babies can do that on their first day of life. A baby will smile if his or her mother does something the baby likes. A baby learns to get the best care by smiling to please her mother or other caregivers. This is when babies learn to connect and "talk" with other people.

Babies really talk with caregivers by learning some language skills in the first three years when the place is rich with sounds and sights. Scientists say children should hear the speech and language of other people again and again. The first signs of communication happen during the first few days of life, when a baby learns that crying will bring food and attention.

Research shows that most children recognize the general sounds of their native language by six months of age. By that time, a baby usually begins to make sounds. By the end of their first year, most children are able to say a few simple words, although they may not understand the meaning of the words. By 18 months of age, most children are able to make simple sentences. By ages three, four and five, the number of words a child can understand quickly increases. It is at these ages that children begin to understand the rules of language.

21. When do babies begin to learn according to doctors?

- A. Right after they are born.
- B. Not until they are five months old.
- C. When they are six months old.

[答案]A

22. Babies will smile when _____.

M03 Most couples who get married or decide to live together generally plan to have children. Several years ago, people thought that having big families was common and this was seen as an advantage. That was mainly because children began working at an early age to help provide for the family. But with the changing times and with the cost of living getting higher every single year, having a big family is no longer considered to be a practical option. In fact, more couples consider that they have only one child and some do not have any desire to become parents at all.

According to the Australian Institute of Family Studies, by 1986, women aged 40 to 44 years, were considerably more likely to have given birth to two children than three children (36% vs. 27%) or four or more children (19%). However, taken together, women were still more likely to have had three or more children than to have had two children (46% vs. 36%).

In recent years, women were more likely to have had two children than three or more children—a trend that was most marked in the most recent period (38% vs. 25% in 1996; 38% vs. 22% in 2006). These days, most families in Australia have two children. But the number of women who had GIVEN BIRTH TO a single child INCREASED PROGRESSIVELY from only 8% in 1981 to 13% in 2006.

The U.S. Census Bureau states that there are approximately 14 million only children in America today. This COMPRISES 20% OF the children's population COMPARED TO only 10% around fifty years ago.

1. Several years ago, people thought that having big families was _____.

- A. uncommon and this was seen as an advantage

P01 Stopping Yelling At Your Kids

Parenting is hard.If you're a parent,I'm sure that I don't need to tell you that our job is a tough one.When you're managing children,it can be difficult to remember that they are still learning.If you find you are yelling at your kids more often than you want to,here are some ways that can help you reduce the yelling.I've been working on this for the past few months and I have to say,it's been amazing for both the kids and me.

If you are having an argument with your child,you need to make sure you both take the time to really listen.It gives both of you time to think and really listen to each other,which is important.Kids are more likely to listen to you if you listen to them!

One of your biggest struggles is to remind yourself of appropriate expectations.You can't expect that your youngest acts as responsibly as your oldest.You should lower what you expect-taking into consideration things like their age - it can make a big difference.

You should do your best to take a moment before yelling and take in a deep breath.It makes a world of difference for you.Instead of yelling,you'd better whisper.It can also help diffuse any situation by making things quieter,not louder.Besides,the more time you spend with your kids,the better you'll get at communicating with them.You're both more likely to understand each other.

If your children aren't listening or it seems they only don't listen to you,you don't take it personally.You should remind yourself that your kids are still learning and they're not going to be perfect.

21.What is the passage most likely to be?

A.An announcement.

B.A letter.

C.A speech.

[答案]C

22. _____ is very important when there is an argument between the kid and the parent.

- A.Yelling at each other
- B.Listening to each other
- C.Whispering to each other

[答案]B

23.Parents should hold _____ for their kids.

- A.lower expectations
- B.identical expectations
- C.appropriate expectations

[答案]C

24.Which is most likely TRUE about kids of different ages?

- A.Every kid is a perfect child.
- B.Elder kids may act better.
- C.Younger kids learn quicker.

T01 Three Kinds of Goals

There are three kinds of goals: short-term, medium-range and long-term goals.

Short-term goals are those that usually deal with current activities, which we can apply on a daily basis. Such goals can be achieved in a week or less, or two weeks, or possibly, months. It should be remembered that just as a building is no stronger than its foundation, long-term goals can not amount to very much without the achievement of solid short-term goals. Upon completing our short-term goals, we should date the occasion and then add new short-term goals that will build on those that have been completed.

The intermediate goals build on the foundation of the short-term goals. They might deal with just one term of school or the entire school year, or they could even extend for several years. Anytime you move a step at a time, you should never allow yourself to become discouraged or overwhelmed. As you complete each step, you will enforce the belief in your ability to grow and succeed. And as your list of completion dates grow, your motivation and desire will increase.

Long-term goals may be related to our dreams of the future. They might cover five years or more. Life is not a static thing. We should never allow a long-term goal to limit us or our course of action.

T03 Demand for Elderly Care Services in China Rising Rapidly

The number of elderly people aged above 60 increased. Demand for elderly care services in China will continue to rise due to the increasing aging population. The number of elderly people aged above 60 was over 200 million in 2012, and will be 300 million in 2025 and 400 million in 2034, according to experts.

It will be a tough challenge for China to deal with, due to the increasing rates of urbanization and a decreasing birth rate. The Chinese people will be facing a big challenge if we do not have enough money when we get older.

The United Nations defines an aging society as one that has 10 percent of its population at or above the age of 60.

When most developed countries were classed as an aging society, their gross domestic product (GDP) per capita stood at between 5,000 to 10,000 U.S. dollars or above. However, China became an aging society in 2001, and its GDP per capita was only 1,000 U.S. dollars. It was 6,000 U.S. dollars in 2012. China's economic foundation for an elderly society is fragile.

On Sept. 13, 2013, the State Council issued a guideline to speed up the development of China's elderly care services, hoping to complete a social care network for its elderly by

W01 Making Your Home a Safer Place

We all tend to think that we are safe n our homes but unfortunately,many homes are not as safe as they are supposed to be.It is impossible to make your home 100%burglar-proof but there are ways to improve your home safety.

Always lock the door and windows when you go out for work or even if you are inside the house.The burglars can take advantage of the opportunity in a minute..

Be suspicious of strangers.You can never know who is pretending to conduct a research or who is using it as a disguise to see if your home is worth breaking in.

Never leave valuables or cash invisible places.Hide them out of sight because they may attract burglars.

Do not leave the door key under planters,doormats or similar hiding places.The burglars know exactly where to look for it.

Teach your children not to open the door or answer the phone when they are home alone.Although it is better to make an impression that your house is not empty,children may unintentionally reveal too much,for example,when the home is empty.

Consider installing an alarm system.Aloud sound alarm usually drives the burglars away before they can steal anything from your home.

Make sure you have good lighting outside during the night.Well-lit homes are deterring the burglars because they increase the risk of being noticed while sticking around the house or trying to break in.

A01 Free Massive Online Open Courses(MOO Cs)

A class with hundreds or even thousands of students might sound like a teacher's worst nightmare.But a big idea in higher education these days is Massive Open Online Courses,or MOO Cs.

Some universities offer free,non-credit MOO Cs available to anyone in the world.Others charge for courses and provide credits.The idea is still developing.The Massachusetts Institute of Technology started its first MOO C in 2012.The school plans to offer many free,non-credit courses through a project called MIT x.Many Chinese universities are beginning to offer free MOO C snow too.

Nowadays,MOO Cs almost cover every topic,like computer science,technology,mechanics,engineering,languages,etc.

Generally speaking,there are no formal education requirements for these free online courses.Students watch short videos.Then,they take informal,ungraded quizzes after the videos each week for certain weeks.Quizzes are part of the lecture program to keep students engaged and keep them thinking,for students to be able to check that they understood what was covered.They can repeatedly watch the videos and take the quizzes whenever they want.Students receive homework.They can join online groups to exchange questions and answers about the courses.The teachers hold virtual office hours to answer questions that the students have posted.They also present their own questions and observations.

Some supporters claimed that there are things that we can do better in the online format.We can certainly deliver high-quality education to many students at much lower cost.

A02 Among the more colorful characters of Leadville's golden age were H.A.W.Tabor and his second wife,Elizabeth McCourt,better known as “Baby Doe”.Their history is fast becoming one of the legends of the Old West.Horace Austin Warner Tabor was a school teacher in Vermont.With his first wife and two children he left Vermont by covered wagon in 1855 to homestead in Kansas.Perhaps he did not find farming to his liking,or perhaps he was lured by rumors of fortunes to be made in Colorado mines.At any rate,a few years later he moved west to the small Colorado mining camp known as California Gulch,which he later renamed Leadville when he became its leading citizen.“Great deposits of lead are sure to be found here.” he said.

As it turned out,it was silver,not lead,that was to make Leadville's fortune and wealth.Tabor knew little about mining himself,so he opened a general store,which sold everything from boots to salt,flour,and tobacco.『It was his custom to “grubstake” prospective miners,in other words,to supply them with food and supplies,or “grub”,while they looked for ore,in return for which he would get a share in the mine if one was discovered.He did this for a number of years,but no one that he aided ever found anything of value.

Finally one day in the year 1878,so the story goes,two miners came in and asked for “grub”.Tabor had decided to quit supplying it because he had lost too much money that way.These were persistent,however,and Tabor was too busy to argue with them.“Oh help yourself.One more time won't make any difference,” He said and went on selling shoes and hats to other customers.The two miners took $17 worth of supplies,in return for which they gave Tabor a one-third interest in their findings.They picked a barren place on the mountain side and began to dig.After nine days they struck a rich vein of silver.Tabor bought the shares of the other two men,and so the mine belonged to him alone.This mine,known as the “Pittsburgh Mine,” made 1 300 000 for Tabor in return for his $17 investment.

Later Tabor bought the Matchless Mine on another barren hillside just outside the town for $117 000.This turned out to be even more fabulous than the Pittsburgh,yielding $35 000 worth of silver per day at one time.Leadville grew.Tabor became its first mayor,and later became lieutenant governor of the state.

C01 Caring For the Elderly

Caring for the elderly is not an easy task,and there are no hard and fast rules on how it should be done.Here are some tips you can apply to make life easier and happier for both yourself and the elderly person in your care.

Establish a Routine

Organize the performance of daily activities in a routine manner,so that they are performed in the same way and at the same time every day.This routine will establish a sense of structure and increase feelings of control and safety.However,this routine can be broken with unplanned events occasionally,as elderly people may find the routine structure too boring and restrictive.

Get to Know Them

It is important that you get to know the elderly in your care,their daily habits,likes and dislikes,etc.The better you know the person,the higher quality of care you can provide.

Treat Them with Respect

If elderly people do not have your respect,they will feel like they are being pushed around or asked to do things that they don't want to.This can lead to a bad relationship.By treating elderly persons in your care with respect,you can develop a strong bond with them.Besides,you can talk to them like adults,show your love and respect,which will not only make them feel good,but may also gain you their respect in return.

Mental Stimulation

It is better to try to keep them occupied with challenging games,like crosswords or chess,which will keep their minds sharp.They like to discuss world events and their life histories with you.This will give the elderly people a feeling of self-worth and make them feel needed.

Social Interaction

Organize and encourage social interaction. Remaining connected to other people and the world is important for the elderly. It helps the elderly feel more engaged. Encourage them to talk to other residents or participate in games, discussions or day trips. Help them to develop a strong relationship with a neighbor. It is important for the elderly to talk to others and make friends.

E01 English is spoken as a native language by around 377 million people, and as a second language by around 375 million speakers in the world. Speakers of English as a second language will soon outnumber those who speak it as a first language. Around 750 million people are believed to speak English as a foreign language. English has an official or a special status in 75 countries with a total population of over 2 billion.

The domination of the English language globally is a sure thing. English is the language of international communications, business, tourism, education, science, computer technology, media and the Internet.

British colonialism in the 19th century and American capitalism and technological progress in the 20th century were undoubtedly the main causes for the spread of English throughout the world. From the fifteenth century, the British began to sail all over the world and became explorers, colonists and imperialists. They took the English language to many places. For the last hundred years, the USA has played a leading role in most parts of the world. The Hollywood film industry also attracted many foreign artists in quest of fame and fortune and the number of American films produced every year soon flooded the market.

However, the future of English as a global language will depend very largely on the political, economic, demographic and cultural trends in the world.

26. English is spoken as a second language by around 377 million people in the world. [答案]F

27. Speakers of English as a second language are more than those who speak it as a first language. [答案]F

30. It is definitely predicted that English will still act as a global language in the future. [答案]F

F01 Free Massive Online Open Courses(MOOCs)

A class with hundreds or even thousands of students might sound like a teacher's worst nightmare. But a big idea in higher education these days is Massive Open Online Courses, or MOOCs.

Some universities offer free, non-credit MOOCs available to anyone in the world. Others charge for courses and provide credits. The idea is still developing. The Massachusetts Institute of Technology started its first MOOC in 2012. The school plans to offer many free, non-credit courses through a project called MIT x. Many Chinese universities are beginning to offer free MOOCs now too.

Nowadays, MOOCs almost cover every topic, like computer science, technology, mechanics, engineering, languages, etc.

Generally speaking, there are no formal education requirements for these free online courses. Students watch short videos. Then, they take informal, ungraded quizzes after the videos each week for certain weeks. Quizzes are part of the lecture program to keep students engaged and keep them thinking, for students to be able to check that they understood what was covered. They can repeatedly watch the videos and take the quizzes whenever they want. Students receive homework. They can join online groups to exchange questions and answers about the courses. The teachers hold virtual office hours to answer questions that the students have posted. They also present their own questions and observations.

Some supporters claimed that there are things that we can do better in the online format. We can certainly deliver high-quality education to many students at much lower cost.

26. Some universities offer free, non-credit MOOCs only available to the people in the U.S. [答案]F

27. Quizzes are part of the lecture program to check how many credits students may get. [答案]T

L01 LIFELONG LEARNING & DISTANCE EDUCATION

The term “lifelong learning” is very popular nowadays. It describes the need for people to continue their education and training throughout their lives. Lifelong learning is more and more important for everyone because people are now facing different career choices in changing economies. It is believed lifelong learning is a crucial response to the challenges of the global knowledge economy.

Currently, most universities have reacted to the era of lifelong learning by adding new programs and services for adults who seek to combine employment with part-time study. Special arrangements have been developed for these students but the core activity of the university, providing teaching to full-time young undergraduates, often goes on much as before.

Lifelong learning is both formal and non-formal; and the boundaries between face-to-face teaching and distance education are increasingly blurred.

By making learning possible anytime and anywhere, distance education is a powerful tool for supporting lifelong learning. Technology-based teaching is creating new educational systems that anyone from anywhere can access. The key challenge for universities is to evolve from a teacher-centered model of education to student-centered model. The challenge for governments is that they have to develop new funding approaches and new quality assessment procedures.

1. The term lifelong learning describes the need for people to continue their education and training in a certain period of their lives. [答案]F

P01 Stop Yelling At Your Kids

Parenting is hard.If you're a parent,I'm sure that I don't need to tell you that our job is a tough one.When you're managing children,it can be difficult to remember that they are still learning.If you find yourself yelling at your kids more often than you want to,here are some ways that can help you reduce the yelling.I've been working on this for the past few months and I have to say,it' s been amazing for both the kids and me.

If you are having an argument with your child,you need to make sure you both take the time to really listen.It gives both of you time to think and really listen to each other,which is important.Kids are more likely to listen to you if you listen to them!

One of your biggest struggles is to remind yourself of appropriate expectations.You can't expect that your youngest acts as responsibly as your oldest.You should lower what you expect-taking into consideration things like their age-it can make a big difference.

You should do your best to take a moment before yelling and take in a deep breath.It makes a world of difference for you.Instead of yelling,you' d better whisper.It can also help diffuse any situation by making things quieter,not louder.Besides,the more time you spend with your kids,the better you'll get at communicating with them.You're both more likely to understand each other.

If your children aren't listening or it seems they only don't listen to you,you don' t take it personally.You should remind yourself that your kids are still learning and they' re not going to be perfect.

- 26.As a parent,you may know that parenting is an easy job.[答案]F
27.Listening to each other is a good way to stop argument between parents and their kids.[答案]T
28.Usually younger kids behave less responsibly than elder children.[答案]T

T01 The law defines youthful offenders (age 18 or under) as “delinquent” if they commit offenses. As for the same offenses, the court would consider an adult as a “criminal”. “Status offenders” are juveniles who commit offenses appropriate only to juveniles, such as truancy from school. Here are a few ideas to help prevent your children from being a delinquent.

Keep your children in school to help prevent delinquency. Minor offenses, such as truancy, can lead to more serious offenses. Make clear to your children your expectations about their school attendance. Meet with school officials if necessary.

Exercise adequate supervision. Juveniles rarely commit serious offenses while under the supervision of an adult. Seek the assistance of your local service agencies if you feel you cannot control your children. Attend parenting classes, or join a local support group if you are having trouble understanding how to exercise discipline.

Educate your children about the dangers of drugs. Drug offenses and addiction can have serious consequences for your children. Let your children know you will not tolerate drug use. Stay informed about drug use trends in children.

Get your children involved in after-school recreational activities, sports, community service or other positive activities. Young people with positive outlets for their energy are more likely to do well in school and avoid the problems of delinquency.

Know who your children's friends are. Show an interest in your children's social life and peer groups. Peer pressure may have a bad effect on teenagers and young people. Do not allow your children to associate with juvenile delinquents.

T03 The Wichita Falls Police Department is trying to help curb crime in neighboring communities throughout the city. On Saturday Wichita Falls Police gave a free two-hour presentation to help locals keep their community crime free.

More than 20 people showed up at the Martin Luther King Center in east Wichita Falls to be part of the presentation.

Wichita Falls Police Officer Jeff Hughes said that they wanted to make sure the folks out there were aware they were doing everything to take away the opportunity from a bad guy.

Hughes reminded those in attendance that their homes outside the presentation could be an open invitation to criminals. One of the biggest ways to prevent crime, according to Hughes is to use CPTED. Also known as Crime Prevention Through Environmental Design.

“The biggest site, that we are dealing with now, that we are endorsing fully, is Next door and it's simply just next door.com,”

The site is free and helps locals setup a Virtual Community that they can interact with from the comfort of their own home.

“With www.nextdoor.com it all happens in a web based program where if you send something out it gets to that group or that person instantly, they will get an alert on their phone or an email,” said Hughes.

According to Hughes, he has already seen a positive impact locally from the site and hopes it can continue to expand in Wichita Falls.

- (1)想想你生活中的一个重要方面,比如你的事业、家庭、健康、爱情等。
(2)描述那个人或事件。发生了什么事?
(3)你受到了什么影响?
(4)学到了什么教训。

参考范文:

The person who has the greatest influence on me.

There is a person in everyone's heart who has the greatest influence on himself.She affects your feelings and thoughts and affects your whole life.And the person who has the greatest influence on me is undoubtedly my mother.My mother is nothing different from ordinary people,but what affects me the most is her tolerance,understanding,open-mindedness and silent love reflected by her normal heart.

Once upon a time,when I was young and fell down on a muddy path,my mother took me with her cocoon-covered hands and wiped the sludge from me.Ah,mother's love is the sunshine in winter.I remember that time I failed in the exam and went back to my room without saying a word when I got home.When my mother saw it,she came to comfort me,encourage me and help me analyze the reasons.When I am frustrated by failure,she will gently touch my head and say,"Son,failure once or twice does not mean failure forever.Mom believes that you will be better tomorrow than today." Her words,like a ray of warm sunshine,melted my melancholy and enabled me to face any setbacks with a normal mentality. In my life, my mother has always been the most loving person around me, caring and attentive, knowing the cold and knowing the hot. She did too much for me, but she never asked for anything in return, this is a kind of how extensive and selfless love ah! It is this kind of love that has given me too many things that I can't forget. When I was a child, I was dependent on my mother. When I grow up, I love my mother blindly. Perhaps only when the sun of life towards noon, life with spring also started summer, will have a profound understanding of mother, deep love. I suddenly realized that my mother is actually a kind of years, from green space to a forest, from a small stream to a deep lake, from the bright moon to an iceberg. Mother nurtured me with her youth, let me grow up healthily over the years, and taught me the truth of dealing with people. For me, my mother is the one who has the greatest influence on me.

In the long river of our lives, maternal love like a clear spring, let our hearts clear, maternal love like selfless sun, warm our hearts, maternal love like a torch, illuminate our future road! Now, I finally know that my mother has paid too much, and we should repay her too much.

参考范文：

Let's Save the Energy

Hello, everyone!

The whole world is short of energy. Saving the energy is very important. As a student, we can do a lot in our daily life.

For example, we should keep the light off when we don't use it. We should take a shower instead of bath to save water. Don't keep the tap running when you wash your face or brush your teeth. When we go shopping, we can take cloth bags instead of using plastic bags. Many people write on only one side of their paper. Why not try using both? To save the energy, we should also reduce pollution. Recycling old newspapers, glasses, cans and wastepaper is also a good idea.

Let's work hard together to save the energy!

I saw a car accident last month. It was a dark night and I was walking on the sidewalk when I suddenly heard a sharp, loud noise. I turned my head and found a woman lying on the ground, crying. A few steps away from her, there was a car with its hazard warning lamps on. There were a few people around her and the driver was making a phone call to the traffic police. I heard that the woman was crossing the street when the red light was on. She did so because she thought that there were no cars, so she risked it. I feel sorry for her because this accident could have been avoided if she didn't ignore the red light. It is advisable to be cautious when we cross the street, and we must observe the traffic rules.

The person who has the greatest influence on me.

There is a person in everyone's heart who has the greatest influence on himself. She affects your feelings and thoughts and affects your whole life. And the person who has the greatest influence on me is undoubtedly my mother. My mother is nothing different from ordinary people, but what affects me the most is her tolerance, understanding, open-mindedness and silent love reflected by her normal heart.

Once upon a time, when I was young and fell down on a muddy path, my mother took me with her cocoon-covered hands and wiped the sludge from me. Ah, mother's love is the sunshine in winter. I remember that time I failed in the exam and went back to my room without saying a word when I got home. When my mother saw it, she came to comfort me, encourage me and help me analyze the reasons. When I am frustrated by failure, she will gently touch my head and say, "Son, failure once or twice does not mean failure forever. Mom believes that you will be better tomorrow than today." Her words, like a ray of warm sunshine, melted my melancholy and enabled me to face any setbacks with a normal mentality. In my life, my mother has always been the most loving person around me, caring and attentive, knowing the cold and knowing the hot. She did too much for me, but she never asked for anything in return, this is a kind of how extensive and selfless love ah! It is this kind of love that has given me too many things that I can't forget. When I was a child, I was dependent on my mother. When I grow up, I love my mother blindly. Perhaps only when the sun of life towards noon, life with spring also started summer, will have a profound understanding of mother, deep love. I suddenly realized that my mother is actually a kind of years, from green space to a forest, from a small stream to a deep lake, from the bright moon to an iceberg. Mother nurtured me with her youth, let me grow up healthily over the years, and taught me the truth of dealing with people. For me, my mother is the one who has the greatest influence on me.

In the long river of our lives, maternal love like a clear spring, let our hearts clear, maternal love like selfless sun, warm our hearts, maternal love like a torch, illuminate our future road! Now, I finally know that my mother has paid too much, and we should repay her too much.

备注: 写一篇关于交流的重要性的文章。你可以按照你的观点来理解。

- (1) 沟通在生活中是非常重要的。
- (2) 我们可以做什么来与他人进行更好的沟通?
- (3) 有效的沟通是可以实现的。

参考范文:

Communication between people is of utmost importance. The importance cannot be stressed too much.

It is said in the Bible that once upon a time, humans communicated with each other in one language. So they attempted to build the Babel Tower to communicate with God, only to find such dream was a castle in the air. In the aftermath, humans were trapped into troubles due to the misunderstandings between them. The jealous God plunged us into such bitterness. Even now, people with different races and religions are dragged into endless wars. People are crying and dying! Such consequences are rooted deeply in the lack of communication. Therefore, lack of communication will lead to perish of human beings.

On the contrary, mutual understanding can be well-established between people if we communicate with each other. That is, the rapport between two countries will be strengthened and the misunderstanding will be reduced if there is a dialogue channel. Likewise, friends can become closer if they argue with each other. No one likes to but it is necessary to be healthy. Arguments between people are a way of communication, by which we can find a solution to the conflicts between us. Consequently, we promote the mutual understanding.

To conclude, through communication, mutual understanding can be promoted and fostered between people with difference races, religions, sex and ideologies. One way is to argue (not totally means quarrels) during the communication to clarify the different views. Lack of communication will surely lead to perish of mankind.

When I applied for the open education of the Open University of China, I was both excited and uneasy. I was excited that I had such a good opportunity to further my studies. I was uneasy that I was too old, and my learning ability and memory were not as good as before. Can I successfully complete my studies? However, thinking of the inconvenience caused by the lack of professional knowledge in my work,my desire to continue studying became stronger and stronger,and I resolutely applied for the Open University of China and chose a major closely related to my work.

After entering the Open University of China,I am faced with a brand-new learning mode,which is different from the traditional one-to-many face-to-face teaching.It mainly uses multimedia resources such as text,recording and video to learn.In order to adapt to this learning mode,I "stupid birds fly first" and learned computer-related knowledge and the steps of surfing the Internet in advance.Fortunately,the teachers and classmates I met are warm-hearted people.During the study,the teachers and classmates help and encourage each other.We discuss the problems encountered in the study and share the interesting stories and pleasures in the study through the network platform in the class group.I want to thank my head teacher,who is online at any time,patiently and carefully answers the problems we encounter in our study.He is a good teacher and a good friend; I want to thank my classmates,who always answer the questions raised in the group,and share their learning methods and experiences without stint.

Through unremitting efforts,I gradually mastered the method of on-demand and downloading online teaching resources at any time in the National Open University and distance teaching platforms at all levels through the Internet,and improved my ability to communicate and learn with teachers and students by means of network interaction.At the same time,I develop the habit of keeping a diary,and organize the knowledge I learn every day into notes,so that I can study and scrutinize repeatedly in the future;Record the problems encountered in daily work and the feelings of applying what you have learned,accumulate experience slowly,and form a precious wealth.In the past two years,without delaying my daily work,I have systematically studied more than 20 courses of my major and successfully completed my studies.
